HOPEFULLY THE PUBLIC WILL FINALLY DISCOVER THE REAL LABOUR PARTY

There are many sinister left-wing groups whose sole purpose is to ensure the British do not regain control of their country. One of these is "Searchlight" which provides the media, particularly the BBC, with information (seldom accurate) that can be used to smear individuals or organisations which stand up for the British. At the head of this organisation is one Gerry Gable who produces a magazine aimed at brainwashing naive young students into opposing their own kind, before they learn anything of life. Needless to say the Zionist-controlled press write positively about this evil, anti-British organisation.

During the elections in April this year, once again Gordon Brown teamed up with Gerry Gable and the Searchlight crew with the "Hope not Hate" campaign. The aim of this pathetic bus exercise was to try and persuade the public to keep voting for the old fifth-column, nation-wrecking parties rather than turning to Christian nationalist candidates. Left-wing political agitators used to claim they were protecting immigrants, and use that as an excuse for their illegal and often violent activities. Now they more openly proclaim that their motive is simply to try and "stop" patriots from being elected. Since its failure at the polls, the Labour Party's dirty-tricks department has been working overtime.

Up until recently all candidates at elections were ensured freedom during the election period to canvass and campaign in their area without fear of physical attack or the intervention of a fifth-column who would spread lies about them. Although the Labour Party has always used Communist groups to carry out acts of violence and thuggery for them, the level of attacks on nationalists has increased recently to a height not seen since the late 1970s. They hope that left-wing thuggery will deter us. Far worse off are the British military personnel who have (immorally and illegally) been sent into action by our nation's enemies who now sit in Parliament.

The legislation which previously afforded candidates the right to carry out their campaign without fear of attack or interference was The 'Representation of the People's act.' This act was scrapped by the Labour government because it prevented Socialist candidates reaping the advantage of unlawful and violent activity. Up until recently the "Hope Not Hate" media circus, bus stunt would have been unlawful, for only candidates and their agents had the right to address the public in a political way during the election period. Anyone carrying out the kind of activities that Gordon Brown, Gerry Gable and their left-wing rabble engage in, would have been arrested and liable to a term of imprisonment. In a fair and democratic society that is how it would have remained.

With a large degree of low, animal cunning, New Labour instigated a much greater use of postal ballots. Socialists engineered this change because it offers more opportunities for tampering with the ballot papers. Although difficult to detect, many Labour and Liberal supporters have been prosecuted for falsifying ballot papers. The whole election process will remain open to cheating for as long as a situation exists where from getting the ballot slips printed, to the final declaration of the count the procedure remains in the hands of the ruling authority which has a vested interest in the outcome.

The Anti Nazi League is another evil Jewish organisation which seeks to make all members of the public subservient to their anti-Christ agenda. Notice how they have no fear of making physical attacks on members of the public. If any Christian or European organisation did this their leaders would be arrested, put on trial and receive a jail sentence. Anti-British Jews have no such fear. Their alien brethren control parliament, the home office, the police and the courts. They can also rely on the press and television news channels to find excuses for the Anti Nazi League's criminal activity, while demonising the innocents who were likely to come under attack.

Note how the Searchlight organisation works with the Anti Nazi League and Jewish socialists. (It was these kind of groups that organised the Bolshevik revolution and slaughtered 66 million innocent civilians. This figure was confirmed by Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

An English lady was sitting on the bench of a Magistrate's Court in North West London! The others sitting with her were both Jews. An English lorry driver came before them that morning accused of a serious driving offence. "We will throw the book at him" said the two Jews. The Englishmen was fined and lost his licence for a year. A Jewish man came before them later that day accused of exactly the same driving offence. "We must treat him leniently." said the Jews. "Why" enquired the English magistrate. They replied "Because giving him a criminal record and losing his licence would affect his standing in the Jewish community". The English lady resigned soon after leaving the way clear for another Jew to take her place. This isn't a rare example of how British Courts operate! Zionists and Freemasons have absolute control over them.
